

Monkey beach

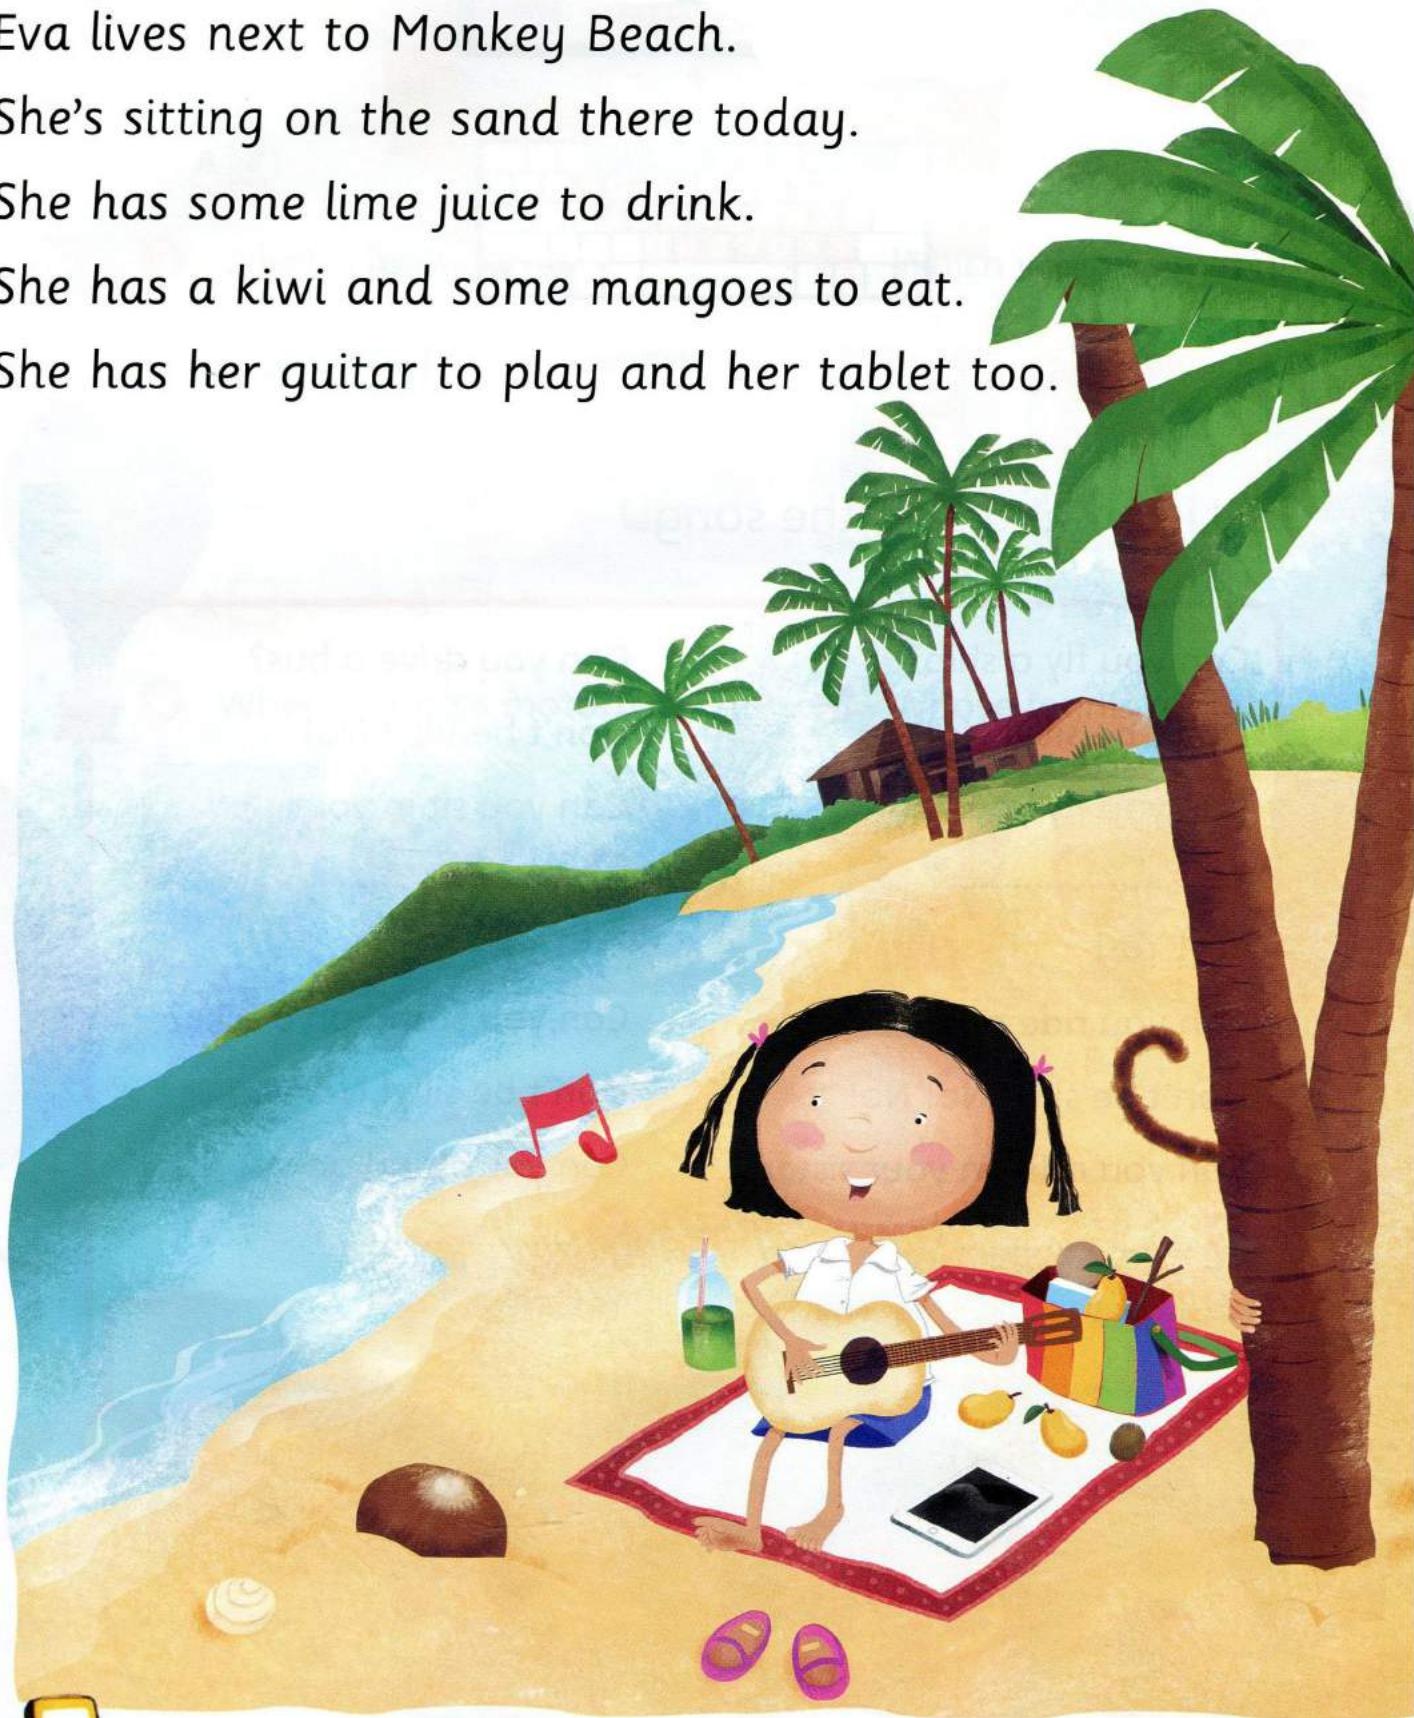

Eva lives next to Monkey Beach.

She's sitting on the sand there today.

She has some lime juice to drink.

She has a kiwi and some mangoes to eat.

She has her guitar to play and her tablet too.

Eva's singing a song. She waves to Miss Board.

'Hello, Eva!' says Miss Board. 'Are you having fun?'

'Yes, I am, thanks!'

'Good! Is that a monkey behind you?'

'A monkey?' says Eva. 'No! Bye, Miss Board!'

Eva's taking photos now.

She sees Mr Page.

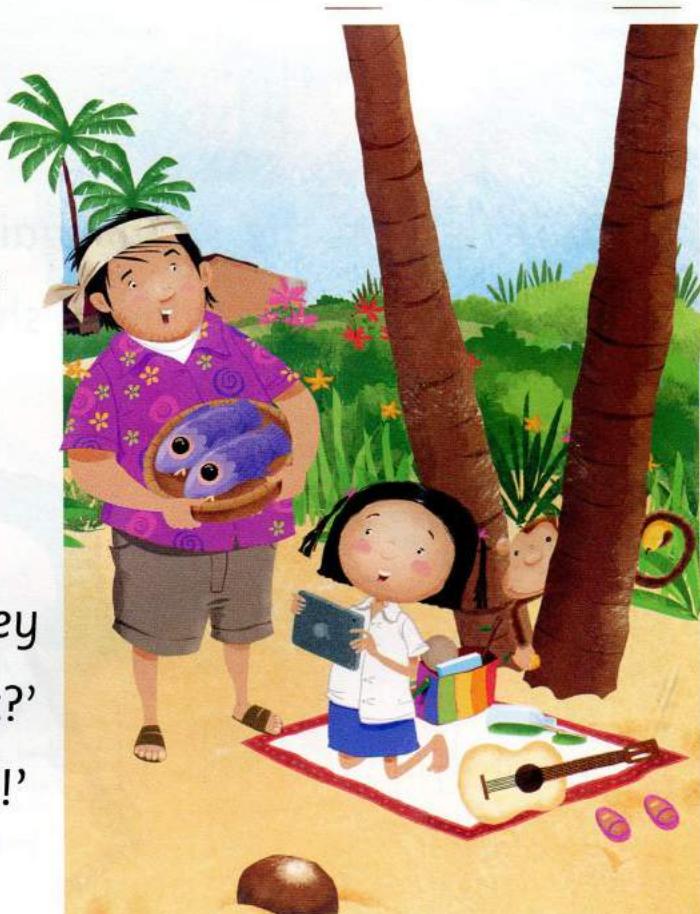

'Hi, Eva!' says Mr Page.

'You've got a very happy smile
on your face!'

'Yes, I have. Well, it's a beautiful day!'

'Yes, it is, Eva! There's a monkey behind you! Do you know that?'

'A monkey? Behind me? Ha ha!'
says Eva. 'Goodbye, Mr Page!'

Eva's hitting her ball with her new bat now.

Eva smiles at Mrs Short.

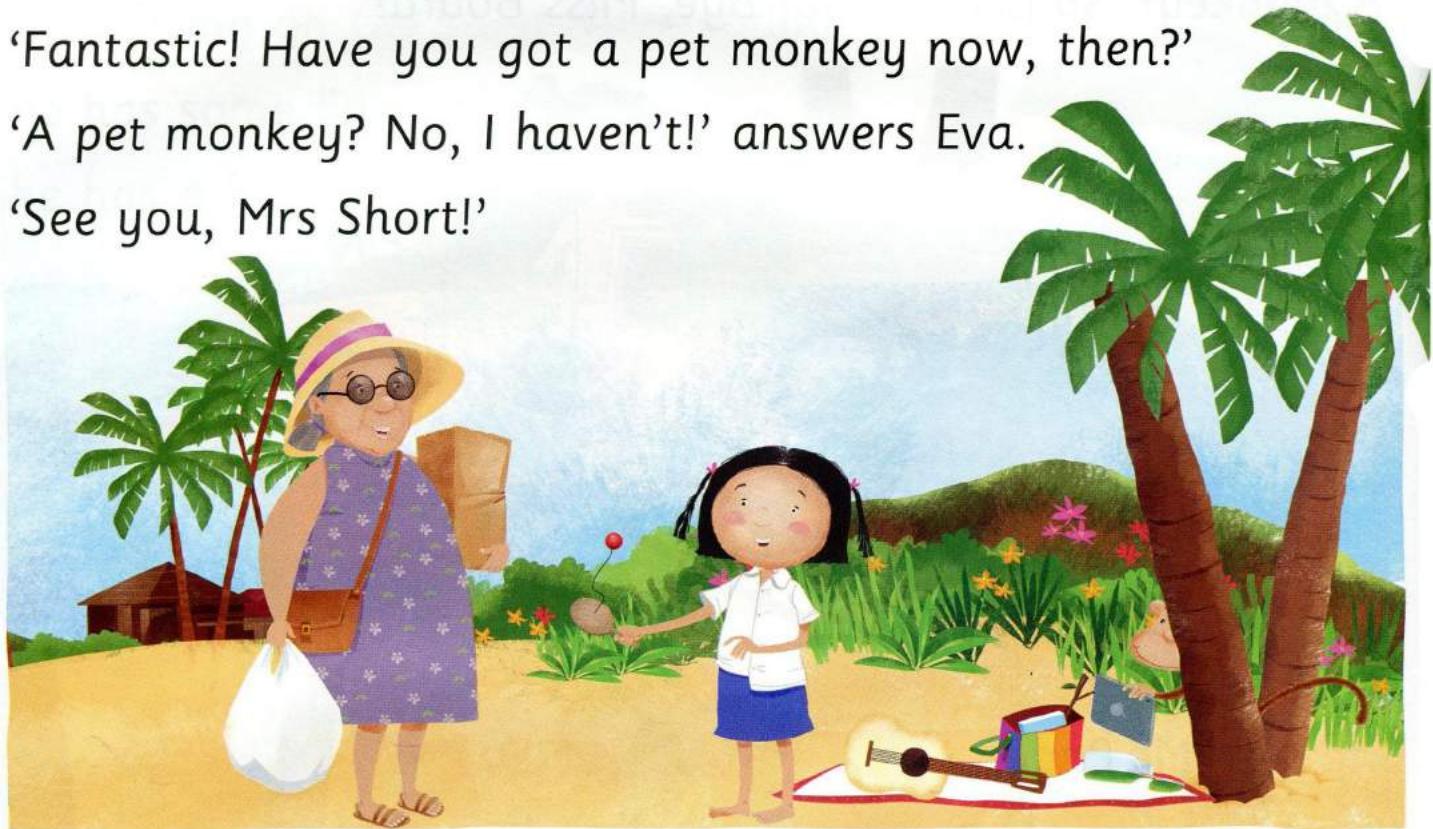

'Good morning, Eva!' says Mrs Short. 'How are you?'

'Really great, thank you!'

'Fantastic! Have you got a pet monkey now, then?'

'A pet monkey? No, I haven't!' answers Eva.

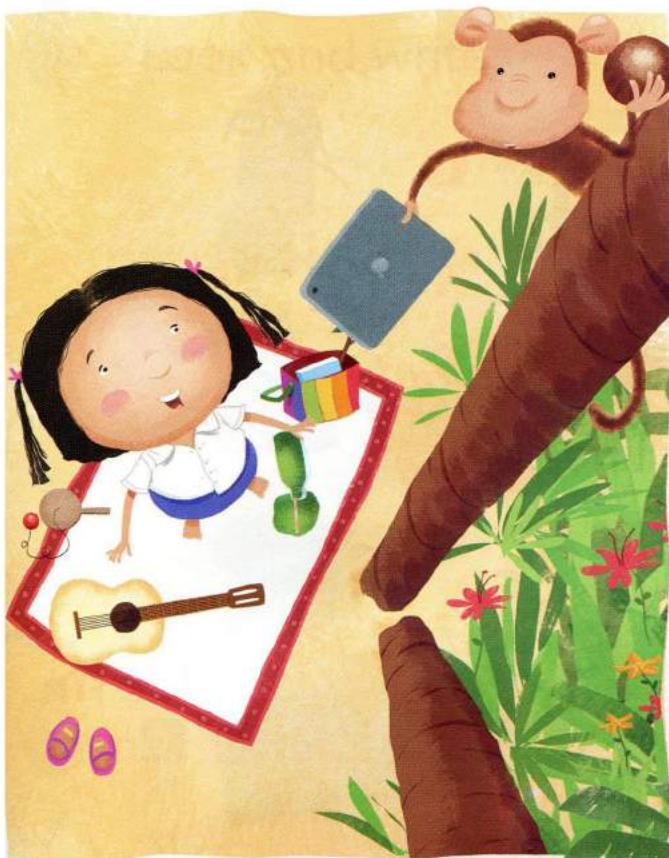

'See you, Mrs Short!'

Eva's sitting on the sand again, now.

'Right! Where's my tablet?' she says.

'Oh! There it is!
Hi, Mr Monkey!' Eva says.
The monkey smiles and gives
Eva her tablet and a coconut!
'My tablet and a coconut?
For me? Thank you,' Eva says and claps her hands.

Sing a happy song.
Be happy! Be happy!

'Enjoy your fruit, Mr Monkey, and enjoy my song too,' Eva laughs.
